LOCAL HABITAT AFFILIATE WARNS OF EMAIL SCAM

Thunder Bay, March 8 2010: Representatives of Habitat for Humanity Thunder Bay are advising the public today of a fraudulent email in circulation that claims to originate from Habitat for Humanity International. This email is intended to exploit the crisis in Haiti and requests personal information as part of a fraudulent offer of paid work. This email is intended to trick participants into providing funds and/or personal information to unauthorized individuals. Individuals receiving one of these emails are advised to delete it immediately without responding.

The entire text of the fraudulent email has been posted on the Habitat for Humanity Thunder Bay website for public viewing. Visit www.habitattbay.com for more information.
